A tall, modern solar street light illuminating a modern building at night. The light is a sleek, vertical pole with a bright, starburst light at the top. The building in the background has a curved, white facade with large windows and a glass roof. The scene is set at night, with the light illuminating the surrounding area.

“To reinvent the future, we must all work together.”

Aaron Donadey — CEO, ADLIS / WEIYIN Corporation

New technology is where the future starts. We keep communication simple and build individual solutions for every client — our concepts come from imagination and common sense in equal measure.

From the first sketch to the finished product we run the whole process in-house — planning, 3D / AR / VR / CAD design, prototyping and manufacture. Bring us your idea and we will build it.
